Foreword

Institutions that represent many phases of human endeavor comprise the whole of the University of Richmond. Such institutions are bound into one unified whole by a sharing of common interests—physical, spiritual, educational, social—in all phases of our life.

Similarly, our University relates to the world, as it contributes to the world-wide forces of democracy that must operate successfully and adroitly in the evolvement of a One World as more than an empty abstraction, but a phrase which sums up the objective reality of a single universal human nature.

The oneness of the world as a way of life has its origin in the common needs and impulses of man. These have always been. All men share in a common humanity by every definition—whether naturalistic, metaphysical, or religious.

Toward this guiding ideal does the 1947 WEB strive, in its hope that all todays and yesterdays may be guiding posts tomorrow; that nations may live together, work together, share together, govern together, and prepare together for the realization of man's noblest ideal—a One World system of equals, the free, cooperative union of all mankind.—The Editor.

Dedication

As the dying King Arthur forced Sir Bedivere to fling Excalibur, his famous sword, into the sea, King Arthur said, "The old order changeth, yielding place to new, and God fulfills Himself in many ways." We have realized this change not only in the leadership of the world but also in the presidency of our University. With deep affection we dedicate the 1947 WEB to the one who symbolizes a new era in the life of our University, a man who has great vision for the world of tomorrow, Dr. George Matthews Modlin.

Inauguration of Dr. George M. Modlin

The University of Richmond, which believes in picking its presidents young, placed the mantle of leadership on the shoulders of 43-year-old George Matthews Modlin at inauguration exercises in Cannon Memorial Chapel, November 16. Top row, left to right: President Modlin marches with Chancellor F. W. Boatwright at the head of the academic procession. Behind them come Dr. Douglas S. Freeman, '04, rector of the board of visitors and Dr. Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., rector of the University of Virginia. The procession swings by the administration building and across the lake with Marshal Ralph C. McDanel, '16, showing the way. The national colors are carried by Solon Cousins, president of Student Government, and Walton Mallory, president of the senior class. Middle row: After receiving the charge from Rector Freeman, President Modlin delivers the inaugural address. Five college presidents, among the many educational leaders who attended the exercises, line up to have their picture taken. Bottom row: Rector Stettinius makes a strong plea for world peace in addressing the capacity crowd in the chapel; Little Susanne Page Brown hobnobs with Sweet Briar President Martha Lucas while other college presidents look on; Dignitaries on the platform included (left to right) Governor Tuck, Rector Stettinius, Rector Freeman, and Chancellor Boatwright.

RICHMOND COLLEGE

Richmond College Student Government

Solon Cousins, President
Student Government

In its first postwar year, the Student Government of Richmond College returned to the original organizational composition consisting of three branches, the Executive, Legislative and Judicial departments. The president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, representative to the Athletic Council and representative to the Board of Publications make up the Executive Branch. The Senate, composed of four senators elected at large, and four elected from the individual classes, forms the Legislative Branch. This body has as its duty the handling of routine affairs and all ordinary legislation. The Honor Council, composed of eight men appointed by the president of Student Government, serves as the Judicial unit. Cases of honor and interpretation of campus legislation are the functions of this group.

Every student of Richmond College is automatically a member of the Student Government Association and it is through the cooperation of all that the organization functions smoothly.

This year the Student Government administered to the needs of twelve hundred students, and began the task of moulding a student body that has never numbered more than six hundred into a unified group. Regular class meetings were introduced to replace one of the Richmond College assembly meetings, in an attempt to make each class distinctive in its organization; a new Honor Code was formed and adopted; the intramural program served more students than ever before, and a Student Activities Council was formed to facilitate inter-organization relations and to serve as an information center for all campus organizations. A standing committee on Thanksgiving Day Relations with William and Mary was formed and an exchange of delegations between resulted in a feeling of good will that prevented any sort of unpleasantness.

The Student Body at large progressed along the path of unity and cooperation during the year, and Student Government had as its aim the participation of all in college activities and an all-inclusive spirit of devotion to Alma Mater. These aims were realized to a phenomenal degree in light of the time elapsed.

The Honor Council

During the past few years, under the wartime constitution of the Richmond College Student Government, members of the executive council acted also as the Honor Council. This year, for the first time since 1942, the Honor Council served as a separate functioning branch of Student Government, being appointed by the president. Composed of four seniors, three juniors, and one sophomore, the Council elected Larry Yoffy as chairman, and Roy Wyatt as secretary.

This year a new statute, governing the Honor System, which was completed by a revision committee last fall, was installed. This provides a written code by which the Council can work. It has proved very effective as a definite standard for council rulings.

In spite of the sudden increase in the enrollment of Richmond College, the Honor Council has had no corresponding increase in the number of cases this year. The orientation program at the beginning of the fall session was undoubtedly helpful in acquainting students with the Code and in preventing violations of it. The Council has been able to work happily and efficiently this year. The members feel that its most important work has been done in preventing infractions of the Code, rather than in trying cases.

Richmond College Senior Class

Years have passed since most of us donned red and blue rat caps, tramped pajama-clad around the lake, and guarded our bonfire on the eve of a William and Mary game. We were Spider freshmen then, back in the early '40s, carefree, with the war no closer than the headlines in the daily news.

Then in 1943 we stood around the flag pole by the library, music frozen in the horns of the band, on the coldest February morn of our college career, and saw the "49'ers" join the troops. The Air Corps Reservists followed in short order, and before long our class was scattered the world around. We were the class of '43, we were the class of '44, the class of '45, of '46. We are the class of '47.

Looking back it seems hardly possible that so many events could have been crowded into the seven, six, five, four, or even three years since we first came to the U of R campus. College life hadn't changed a great deal when we returned. We still groaned over examinations, yelled at football games, gathered at the "slop shop," and danced in Millhiser. Our greatest change was our growth in numbers—there were more of us to groan and yell and laugh and play. We were like the returned vet who found that his wrists and ankles thrust far beyond his cuffs and his coat was bursting at the seams. We were a part of the reconversion era when men were going to college by the thousands, were making better grades than ever before, knew what they wanted from education, and at the same time kept alive the jovial side of campus life as it was before the war.

All around the campus were the signs of a changing college world and the lingo had taken on a "G.I." vocabulary. Everyone talked of the "G.I." Bill of Rights, they "griped" when things went wrong and said they were "all fouled up." Army field jackets and Navy P jackets came forth on frosty morns. Jeeps that once had bounced on foreign fields were parked beside the playhouse, now painted a brilliant red, and over by the refectory converted barracks were going up to ease the housing shortage. Many of our class, married now, found a new problem had been added to their academic woes—that of finding a baby sitter on the night of the Junior Prom.

Familiar faces mingled among the new in the student body, now swollen to almost 1,200, which struggled to get in and out of the College Shop, still as small as ever with Buddy back behind the counter after a navy career. The faculty too had grown —augmented by 27 new members, and classrooms—even the largest of them, had out the SRO sign.

S. Army Air Forces.

Yet in this swelling tide of new faces, many of the old familiar ones were missing. We were the first class to graduate under the administration of Dr. George M. Modlin, our new president. Dr. Boatwright no longer in the president's office, had moved up to the newly created position of chancellor.

Activities on the campus reached a new high as old leaders returned, and new men began to take interests. Student Government, under the leadership of Solon Cousins, led the way in campus reorganization. Publications were better than ever before, our football team was one to brag about, our basketball team equally as good, and a Student Activities Council was formed to coordinate the campus groups. There was a definite trend toward building a better campus community. As seniors we leave our campus past and with the same cooperation, initiative, and intelligent hard work we learned to exhibit at Alma Mater we direct our steps toward the world of tomorrow.

Enriched by the years spent on our campus, we leave with the determination that this world—the one ahead—will not succumb to the pitfalls of the world of yesterday. We leave to take our places in One World, smaller than ever before, a world that calls for "big men."

WESTHAMPTON COLLEGE

Westhampton College Government Association

Marion Kennedy Huske
President, College Government

September and Orientation Week mean to Westhampton freshmen rushing from one place to another, meeting new people, campus tours, handbook classes, teas, picnics, getting settled, and this year fifteen friendly girls, who, as a part of the mad rush, helped to keep things going as they should. These Freshman Counsellors were chosen by the Westhampton College Government Association from the junior and senior classes to aid the Class of 1950 in establishing their residence on the campus. For the second year the freshmen have lived in Thomas Hall "across the lake," a measure hoped to be remedied by the completion of the new dormitory. Early in the year a residence council was established there.

The College Government Association is an organization which takes an active interest in and fosters all campus activities. Greater strides have been made during the past year toward a higher degree of efficiency, necessitated by the rapid growth of the student body. To help make life at Westhampton happier and fuller, the Association has helped refurnish and redecorate the Tower Room; the handbook was revised and enlarged; a Tradition Book, designed to preserve for posterity that important phase of college life, was also revised and reissued. Working toward a more efficient set-up, College Government revised the constitution and reorganized their files. Two delegates were sent to the Southern Intercollegiate Association of Student Governments convention. A permanent committee to set standards for choosing Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities was instituted. "Ratting" in 1947 and thereafter was limited to one day; and fire chiefs (who delighted in holding a fire drill on Hallowe'en Night) were appointed.

Each and every girl plays a part in the democratic system of college government, for the association's aim is to represent and further the interests of the students and to develop all phases of student life. And just as all nations working together can bring about world unity, it has been proved during the past year that each student, from the moment she opens her orientation program till the day she is handed her diploma, can share in creating a well-organized governing unit.

Proclamation Song

Westhampton, our Alma Mater,
The mother of our college days,
We do adore thee,
We stand before thee
To humbly sing thy praise.
You gave us spirit,
The flame of spirit
You lit within each eager heart;
O may that blaze glow
Wherever we go
Apart.

We speak of thy pine trees, we sing of thy lake;
We've watched thy nights fall and thy cool mornings break;
We love thy green fields and the flowers they give;
They're part of the spirit that taught us to live.

Westhampton, our Alma Mater,
Throughout the dim eternity
O may that light shine
Throughout each lifetime
For thee.

Words and Music: MARYLOU RHODES MASSIE

The Class of '47

Remember that first year? The Navy V-12 Unit was on campus and civilians were few. Orientation week was crowded with handbook classes, learning the Alma Mater, the President's Reception, the A.A. picnic, and the Y kid party. Then we settled down to classes: Miss Harris' math, Miss Ross' English, and Dr. Woodfin's Ancient History. In October came ratting—green and white hair ribbons and socks and dangling mouse traps; bowing to the lamppost and praising '46; Rat Day and cleaning the campus, and that terrifying rat court. In November we were officially proclaimed freshmen; in December we elected Marion Huske class president and chose Miss Harris as class sponsor. In spite of rain, we marched in the lantern parade on May Day and sang Ann Young's original song to the Queen.

Our sophomore year was our biggest year. We raised money for our class project, which was to aid a Chinese orphan, by our Ghost Basketball Game. Luminous paint was the secret. In November we officially adopted in a christening ceremony the front lamppost as a symbol of the Odd Classes and inaugurated Odd-Day. That year the Song Contest was revived. Marylou Massie wrote our original pep song, and we practiced hard—and we won! We were so happy we wept. May Day—rainy again!—found us making hundreds of paper flowers for our Rainbow Ball and hanging tons of Spanish moss around the gym. And then, unbelievably, we won the Mortar Board cup. June came and we picked daisies for the daisy chain, hundreds of them, at the crack of dawn; attended the Big Sister-Little Sister luncheon and tea, and graduation.

Then we were three. By keeping the Phone room and by sponsoring raffles, we raised money for our project, the Martha Jeter Back-to-School Fund. Then February ninth came and the Junior Prom. We decorated for our Dream Ball with a rose arbour, angels' hair, castles, and cherubs; Vin Watson led the figure. In March, General Eisenhower and Admiral Nimitz were awarded honorary degrees. May Day was "big" that year with the presentation of "A Midsummer Night's Dream." Helen Conant was wonderful as Bottom. That spring, ground was finally broken for the new dormitory; and six of us were tapped into Mortar Board.

Then suddenly it was September, 1946. The campus was swarming with returned servicemen. We had a new president and a new dean. Ruth Schimmel was our class president. We marched in our first academic procession. Then on November 16, President Modlin was inaugurated and we processed with representatives from universities all over the country. Proclamation Night we proudly sang Marylou Massie's Proclamation Song. That fall the hockey championship was ours. In December, we renewed an old custom by having a tea for the entire student body, and in March we celebrated our birthday, not by the traditional picnic in blue jeans and plaid shirts, but by a formal dinner and coffee in the Faculty Drawing Room. Our May Day festivities centered around the production of an adaptation of "The Twelve Dancing Princesses." On "moving up" day in chapel, we all marched out into the "wide, wide world." All too soon, comprehensives were taken, exams were over, the books were closed. June third had arrived.

LAW SCHOOL

Law School

Senior Class

DAVID ARENSTEIN
Richmond, Va.

V.P.I.; Univ. of Virginia; Va. State Bar Assn.; Student Bar Council; Phi Alpha Social Fraternity

With fourteen survivors of freshman classes from as far back as 1937, the 1947 Law School Senior Class moved into its final months toward the pleasant prospect of graduation in June and August.

Of the June candidates, only one—Chuck Lilly—represented the original class of one which entered in February, 1945. This is probably the only freshman class in the history of this or any other school to have 100% of its members graduate on schedule. The balance all had a year or so prior to the war either here at T. C. Williams or some other law school. In fact, of the June graduates, Les Dillard is the only "outsider" having had his first year at W. and L. Law School. The rest, Wade Coates, Clyde Cridlin, Dave Arenstein, Ballard Baker, and Milton Pickus, all roamed between the library and pool room at some time or other in the "pre-war" era.

All but three of those aiming at the August exercises have received all of their law education since V-J Day. They are Tom Bryan, a Virginia man, Larry Hamilton, who started at West Virginia, and Ted Kuzner, who was here in '39.

The remainder of the summer class, Al Philpott, John Snead and Dan Wilson, along with the only co-ed of the class, Frances Jones all entered in the fall of 1945 and are therefore the first completely post-war graduates of T. C. Williams. It is not as simple as it seems either, for five of these August candidates still have the State Bar exam in Roanoke to look forward to in June, in addition to a heavy load at Summer School.

McNeil Law Society

The McNeill Law Society, originally organized in 1934, was revived, after a war-time suspension, in the fall of 1946 by the initiation of twelve new members from the Law School student body.

The purposes of the Society are the recognition of diligence and distinction in the study of law, and the offering to such students of an opportunity for further development by participation in trials, research and the discussion of legal questions beyond the confines of the classroom.

Law School Student Bar

Founded at the T. C. Williams School of Law in 1939, to replace an obsolete Student Government Association, the Student Bar was an experiment in self-government which has proven itself worthy of the efforts of its creators the Student Senate of 1939, and its "godfather," Dean M. Ray Doubles.

Its constitution, carefully patterned after that of the Virginia State Bar Association and the Virginia Intergrated Bar, sets forth the functions and primary purposes of the organization. The time-honored theory of balance of powers between judicial, legislative, and executive, which had been followed by the outmoded SGA, was shelved in favor of a more modern set-up. In keeping with the present day trend, the constitution places the major weight of power in a representative council, a part in executive officers, and a lessor, but essential amount, in a court.

Aiming at greater compactness, the new system abandoned the old form of student government, whereby the council was composed of three distinct classes, according to their year in school. Under the Constitution of 1939 this antiquated form was replaced by the present system of three judicial circuits, each one including members of senior, intermediate, and freshman classes, thus assuring unprejudiced representation of the entire student body.

Each of these circuits is represented at the Student Bar by two delegates elected to serve on the Student Bar Council. This Council, in which is vested most of the power of the Bar, makes rules, ratifies executive action, sets amount of annual dues, allocates funds, calls elections, promulgates canons of student ethics, and recommends publications representatives. In addition the Council is endowed with, and exercises, the necessary powers to: (1) encourage better education for profession membership; (2) cultivate and advance the science of jurisprudence; (3) promote a spirit of brotherhood and cordiality among the membership; (4) uphold and elevate the standards of honor, integrity, and courtesy of the legal profession. Presided over by Vice-President Tommy Bryan, the Council's most notable work this year was the revision of the Canons of Ethics and the establishment of uniform rules for the operation and maintenance of the school's limited recreational facilities.

Ex-"fly-boy" Howard Vick, the pride and joy of Carolina, held the reins of the executive branch of the Bar this year, with the able assistance of Bryan, in the secondary spot. "Gentleman Jim" Payne, Hopewell's genial genius, held our purse-strings, while the Law School's long-stemmed glamor girl, Frances Jones, kept the records and kept the members of the Bar informed on pertinent matters. In addition to his general executive duties, the President supervises the execution of the laws, recommends legislation to the Council, has a veto power, appoints members to the Court, calls meetings of the Student Bar, supervises auditing of the books, and acts as the Bar representative on the Board of Publications. The principle duty of the Vice-President, besides acting in the absence of the President, is presiding over the meetings of the Council. The Treasurer endeavors in the customary manner to make the meager Law School funds last through until June. It might be added here, that that task becomes increasingly difficult after the annual dinner and ball in the spring. The Secretary performs those thankless jobs which are always relegated to the scribe of every organization, but manages a nice piece of paper work in the deal.

The three member Grievance Committee, appointed by the Council, plays an important part in the operation of the Student Bar. It receives complaints of violations of the Canons of Ethics, makes investigations, and on the basis of its findings prosecutes the culprits, where there are such, before the court. This year, however, its work has been limited to aiding in the revision of the Canons and in listening sympathetically to appeals of the nonsporting and financially embarassed element who have been unable to gain access to the pool table.

The last in this list of multiple agencies is that august body, the Court. This five man group, parallel to the American tradition, is appointed by the President to determine the constitutionality of actions of the other governmental departments, and, of course, to decide cases involving violations of the Canons of Ethics.

Despite this formidable array of delegated power the Student Bar does carry on in an admirable manner. In its many and varied activities the Bar has succeeded in carrying out the objects for which it was designed. These latter are best set forth in Article II of the Constitution:

(a) To represent and further the best interests, individually and collectively, of its members;

(b) To aid in the molding of the student mind into channels of thought appropriate to possible further membership in the organization's professional contemporaries, the Virginia State Bar, the Virginia State Bar Association, and in similar organizations of other jurisdictions;

(c) To promote a spirit of mutual fellowship and a higher sense of understanding among and for fellow members.

(d) To teach consideration of individual honor and integrity as essentials of the legal profession;

(e) To advance and further the interests of the University of Richmond Law School.

And, then, of course, there is the social side. Each year is opened traditionally with an informal smoker to acquaint new students and faculty and to satisfy the nostalgia of recent alumni who always return. There are also at least two formal dances each year, with the date of the Spring Formal usually coinciding with that of the Annual Law School Alumni Banquet. For daily relaxation a recreation room is provided wherein one may indulge in very light reading (racing forms and an old copy of the Mirror), a friendly game of pool or ping-pong, or the most violent of political arguments and "bull sessions." It has also been a consistent rumor these past few years that some of the more stolid use the place for cat-naps between classes. This year has also seen the re-establishment, here, of Jefferson Senate, Delta Theta Phi Law Fraternity, one of the groups that became inactive at T. C. Williams during the recent war.

All in all the session has been eventful and successful in all respects in this "integral part of the university." The Student Bar has once again shown itself satisfactory in purpose and operation to students, faculty, and alumni.

Delta Theta Phi

Mrs. Howard C. Vick
Richmond, Virginia

After having remained dormant at the T. C. Williams School of Law since 1939, due to the advent of the Selective Service Act, the war, and the subsequent withdrawal from school of the major portion of the student body, Jefferson Senate of Delta Theta Phi Law Fraternity was revived here in the fall of 1946.

Re-built around a nucleus of seven men, under the leadership of Student Bar President Howard Vick, the fraternity immediately entered upon a program to regain the position of leadership on the campus relinquished when the Senate was forced to become inactive. Twenty-two men were pledged by Delta Theta Phi in January of this year and sixteen of these men were initiated in formal ceremonies conducted at the Country Club of Virginia early in March.

The fraternity was originally established at this school in 1911 and lists among its alumni many of the most prominent members of the Virginia State Bar and the judicial bench. Incidentally, this year has also seen the reactivation of the Alumni Senate of the University of Richmond Law School under the able direction of W. Moscoe Huntley, prominent Richmond attorney.

Boasting 20,000 members and more than fifty active chapters in over half of the states of the union, Delta Theta Phi had its origin at old Dickinson College in 1900. The group organized there merged with Delta Phi Delta, Alpha Kappa Phi, and Theta Lambda Phi in 1902-03 to form the basis for the present national organization.

Present officers of the fraternity are: Howard C. Vick, Dean; Louis H. Miller, Jr., Vice-Dean; Walter T. Daniel-Clerk of the Rolls; William D. Dixon, Clerk of the Exchequer; William T. Bareford, Master of the Ritual; Victor E. Pregeant, Tribune; Stuart L. Williams, Bailiff.

Runnerups for the state championship, the Spiders played the role of "surprise" team of the Old Dominion in 1946.

Not given a Chinaman's chance in the fight for the Big Six title, Coach Johnny Fenlon's boys did the almost unbelievable with the more than 80 candidates—the largest turnout ever seen at UR. The Spiders proceeded to rack up six victories, two defeats, and two ties.

Richmond also received its share of the honorary plaudits, with four players making the All-State first team and Jackie Null, the 150-Pound center, earning a second team berth. Linemen playing on the first team were End Doc Savage and Guard and Co-Captain Fritz Laurinaitis.

Back Jack Wilbourne got more votes than other state performer and was named captain of the mythical all-star squad. He and Sugar Ralston, sophomore fullback, gave the Spiders two backfield positions for the first time in many years.

The Spiders wasted no time in displaying their wares, slapping down Randolph-Macon, 46-0 in the curtain raiser. Wilbourne, Ralston, Charlie Suttenfield, Cotton Billingsley, Shorty Long, Bill Scheerer and Doc Savage tallied touchdowns.

After playing a 7-7 deadlock with VMI, the Red and Blue achieved one of the greatest team victories ever produced by a Richmond eleven when Maryland was annihilated, 37-7. A Washington sportswriter had tabbed the game a mere "scrimmage" for the Terps, saying Richmond "didn't even have a good semi-pro team." The Spiders gave him plenty of words to eat, though.

The Richmonders ran up their third high score a week later in dropping Hampden-Sydney, 33-6, before Duke's Blue Devils dumped them into the defeated ranks, 41-0.

The Spiders demonstrated that they still had plenty of stuff left as they came back to capitalize on the breaks to shutout Washington and Lee, 20-0.

Returning to the Carolinas long enough to down Davidson, 27-6, the boys came home to treat the Alumni to a 19-7 victory over Virginia. The win snapped a Homecoming Day jinx which had spoiled the old grads get-together in recent years.

Virginia Tech's vaunted line was given a sample of Richmond forewall strength in the next-to-last game of the campaign when the Spiders outplayed and outfought the Gobblers, but were forced to settle for a 7-7 decision because of a couple of bad breaks.

And then the finale against William and Mary. The Tribe just had too much, and treated the Spiders like every other Virginia team it encountered. Richmond emerged on the short end of a 40-0 score.

The Richmond coaching staff turned in a masterful job, Coach Fenlon and his assistants: Backfield Coach; Bill Porterfield, Line Coach Russ Crane, and End Coach; Glenn Knox.

Coach Fenlon topped off the achievements of the team when he was voted the outstanding coach in the Southern Conference and 12th best in the nation in 1946 in a poll conducted by the New York World Telegram.

If the Spiders surprised the football skeptics, the basketballers were a bigger sleeper.

With Captain Weenie Miller being the lone senior among the starters, and three sophomores and a freshman making up the rest of the first team, Richmond won 17 games and lost eight in regular season play. In the Southern Conference tournament, the Red and Blue gave a masterful demonstration of inspired play before falling victim to a potent North Carolina quint, 55-43.

Highlighted by a 90-point splurge against Union Theological Seminary in the opener, the Spiders hung up victories over such foes as Virginia, William and Mary, Virginia Tech, Washington and Lee, Wake Forest, and Maryland, whom they defeated twice. Richmond racked up 1,344 points to the opposition's 1,245.

Kingpin of the Spiders was Miller, whose quarterbacking of the team on the floor was a thing of beauty to behold. Weenie, who topped the scorers with 269 points, played his finest game against Maryland, dumping in 21 points as the Terps were lambasted, 68-49.

Much in the midst of things all season were Guard Al Rinaldi and Center Tony DiServio. Rinaldi shot 251 points and DiServio 248. Forward Irv Robinson and five-foot-five Bootsie Dolsey completed the regular five.

Baseball 1946

Baseball prospects looked bright in March 1946 when 50 tryouts—the largest diamond turnout in Spider history—showed up for spring practice.

But the talented group of players which Coach Mac Pitt had assembled never got a chance to live up to hot stovers' predictions of a glorious season jammed with victories. The injury jinx popped up in the Spider camp soon after the campaign got under way and took virtual residence for the remainder of the 15-game schedule.

At one time or another Pat Fenlon, Leo Garrett, Mac Pitt, Jr., Harvey Woods, Bubber Donner, Harry Straughton, Jim Kelly, Chick Earle, "Botchy" Nunnally, Bobby Johnson, and Stuart Coghill all were on the ailing list.

As it was, Richmond completed the season with a record of eight victories and five setbacks.

Pitching was divided between five moundsmen, Lou (Frog) Burdette, Leo Garrett, Carlyle Williams, Basil Koenig, and Bobby Johnson. Regulars who turned in some good stick work at the plate included Catcher Charlie Kranitzky, Second Baseman Jackie Null, Shortstop Bubber Donner, Third Baseman Pat Fenlon, Outfielder Gene Kastelberg, and Utility Infielder Harvey Woods.

Intramural Sports

Championships among the intramural teams were pretty evenly distributed in 1946 and 1947, with five teams sharing honors in four sports.

A revival of the softball leagues in the spring of '46 saw Pi Kappa Alpha and Lambda Chi come out on top in final standings in two leagues. Both clubs won four games and dropped nary a contest.

The summer softball league also was revived, and Kappa Sigma, displaying a veritable Murderer's Row, nosed out five other teams in winding up on top. The Kappa Sigs won 11 and lost four.

Kappa Sigma also maintained a stranglehold on intramural football, and wrapped up the grid crown with a final 21-6 victory over Phi Gamma Delta.

Track was another sport which put in a re-appearance on the intramural scene. The Phi Gams, with speedy Walton Mallory leading the way with 11½ points for individual point honors, came in first in the track meet. Phi Gam wound up with 40 points, four more than Kappa Sigma. Sigma Alpha Epsilon gained third place with 26 points.

There were several top-notch basketball teams, but Miles' Catbirds, with nine victories and two losses, and Phi Gam with nine triumphs and four setbacks, led the two respective loops. In a playoff for the campus championship, the Catbirds beat the Phi Gams in two out of three contests.

Westhampton College Athletic Association

"Come on, Odds!"

"Get that ball, Evens!"

If ever a stranger wishes to see visibly that intangible something that pervades the campus—Westhampton Spirit—let him attend an Odd-Even hockey or basketball game. Cheers rise from all sides and there is excitement plus. Then let him watch the banner ceremony, when the losing classes regretfully take down their banners and the winning class is praised. Westhampton Spirit, a spirit of cooperation, enthusiasm, friendliness, and true sportsmanship, is embodied in the Athletic Association.

During Orientation Week, the freshmen and new students were introduced informally to the association at the A.A. picnic. Here, was food, fun,and good fellowship, many experienced, perhaps for the first time, Westhampton Spirit. In December, the A.A. added to the holiday festivities by sponsoring its annual Christmas dance, this year a Snow Ball. The Westhampton gym skaters and was gaily decorated with a huge snow man and figures of skiers.

Song practices for the February Song Contest began with the new semester. The A.A., in sponsoring the contest, feels that it helps promote Westhampton Spirit. Each girl learns the words to old college songs and has a chance to create new ones. Class rivalry is strong and the gym rafters fairly ring with enthusiastic singing.

In the spring, at the annual A.A. banquet held in honor of the newly-elected board, varsity letters in track, tennis, and archery were awarded. Those girls who have won at least three letters in different sports were awarded blazers. The highest award given by the Athletic Association is the seal, presented to those girls who through their enthusiasm, interest and spirit have promoted athletics and all campus activities.

The qualities for which the A.A. stands as embodied in its leaders and members help to embue the students of today with a spirit of unity and friendly cooperation,—the same spirit that is necessary in achieving world unity.

Varsity Hockey

The Westhampton hockey team, under the able coaching of Miss Gene Woodfin, completed the 1946 season of intercollegiate competition by winning all of its games to become the State Champions.

Through a project sponsored by the Athletic Association in the spring of 1946, nine of the players were able to go to hockey camp. Consequently at the beginning of the season the team was in good form. Experience was gained by playing two college teams from Pennsylvania, Beaver and Ursinus. Even more valuable was the team work and skill developed under the coaching of Miss Constance Appleby, who introduced hockey to the United States.

For the second year in succession, the team beat Sweet Briar in a very close game, 2 to 1. Out-of-town games were played with Madison, Randolph-Macon, and William and Mary.

At Sweet Briar, where the Virginia Tournament was held, Helen Conant and Margaret Stone were selected for the Virginia team. Jane Dens, Betty Anne Gustafson, and Betty Stansbury made the Reserve team. These girls went to Washington, where Helen Conant and Margaret Stone made the Southeast Reserve team. Playing in the United States Tournament in New York, Helen Conant made honorable mention All-American.

Varsity letters were awarded to Marilyn Alexander, Isabel Ammerman, Maria Carter, Helen Conant, Emily Deitrick, Jane Dens, Betty Anne Gustafson, Carolyn Marsh, Jane Sanford, Virginia Smith, Betty Stansbury, Margaret Stone, and Carol Walker. Second team letters were awarded to Patricia Ballagh, Peggy Harris, Virginia Herndon, Fay Hines, Joy Hull, Lois Johnson, Peggy Reynolds, Margaret Sabine, and Janet Tinker. A service letter was awarded to Elsie Minter.

Rolling over William and Mary, 22-18, in the season's finale, the 1946 Spiderettes presented Westhampton with its first undefeated campaign in more than 20 years.

Captained by Betty Edwardsen, the sextet racked up triumphs over Madison for the first time since the rivalry with that school was touched off back in 1930, and traditional Sweet Briar. Betty Anne Gustafson, captain of the '47 team, paced the girls in the Sweet Briar contest with 11 points.

Elsie Henley burned up the floor in the season's opener against R.P.I., shooting 24 points, as Westhampton romped to a 33-22 victory.

Toughest game of the year was against St. Catherine's, in which a last-minute basket by Captain Edwardsen saved the day as the Spiderettes eeked out a 26-25 win.

All members of the undefeated team were presented gold basketballs at the end of the season.

The complete record:

Westhampton	33	R.P.I.	22
Westhampton	22	Madison	18
Westhampton	26	Sweet Briar	22
Westhampton	26	St. Catherine's	25
Westhampton	22	William and Mary	18

State champs have to practice too!

Class Basketball 1947

Rounding out their college careers in splendor, the Senior Class won the intramural basketball championship with five wins and one tie as their record. The 1947 season found the seniors in first place, the sophomores second, and the juniors and freshmen tied for third place. The basketball season closed with the annual Odd-Even Game, in which the Odds were victorious, winning 27-18.

Varsity Tennis - 1946

Westhampton renewed its intercollegiate tennis games, beating R.P.I. 2 to 1, while losing to William and Mary and Sweet Briar, 3 to 0. Those awarded varsity letters were Diane Brown, Helen Conant, Caroline Goode, and Betty Anne Gustafson.

Rating of players is determined by a tennis ladder which is always subject to change. At the end of the season, Peggy Stone was in first place, with Helen Conant second, Betty Anne Gustafson, Diane Brown, and Caroline Goode third, fourth, and fifth respectively.

Track - 1946

The Westhampton track team rounded out its 1946 season with a victory over St. Catherine's. Stellar performers this year were Helen Conant, Jane Dens, Pat Eagan, and Florence Zenke.

Two records were broken during the season by Helen Conant. She surpassed her previously set record in the basketball throw by heaving the ball ninety-six feet. In the shot put event, she broke the former record, 29 feet, 11-3/4 inches, by putting the shot 33 feet, 3/4 inches.

At the close of the intramural season, the Freshman Class was in first place, the juniors second and the sophomores third.

The Collegian

Friday noon has become synonymous with The Collegian. Striving to meet the needs of an enlarged student body, the staff began in September a weekly schedule of publication, discontinued during the war, and in many issues increased the size of the paper to six pages. The highlight of the year was a special eight-page Homecoming edition, which was widely acclaimed by the old grads.

In February, 1946, Cliff Long, former editor of the Web, and Thad Crump, returned to the campus and were appointed editor and managing editor, respectively, of The Collegian. Retaining their positions in September, they gained for the paper the support and interest of the entire campus.

Combined staffs "put Collegian to bed" at the printshop.

Staff members included such valuable writers as Walter Hoover, author of "Our Week"; Paul Duke, veteran sports reporter, who was sports department editor; and Peggy Hawthorne, Westhampton College editor, who was largely responsible for the increase in interest at Westhampton. Credit for the publication of the enlarged weekly issues goes to Sylvia Haimovit, Business Manager, and her staff, who obtained the volume of advertising necessary.

The faculty and administration have praised The Collegian as "good by professional standards." Friday noon now finds a crowd waiting outside the Playhouse office when "the rag" comes in hot off the presses. The days of extra copies are over; The Collegian is in demand.

The Web

Proofs . . . glossy prints . . . senior write-ups . . . organization pictures . . . snapshots . . . division pages . . . ads . . . covers . . . club write-ups . . . layouts . . . photographers—enough to drive an editor mad! Yet somehow the staff has managed to put it all together to publish the Web. Last fall one might have found us at any time in the office in the playhouse with our heads together, planning the book. How many colors might we have? How many ads would we need? What should we use as a theme? When was the photographer coming? What kind of art work should we use?

Work really got under way in October when Paul Gendler, from the Merin Studios in Philadelphia, arrived on a Monday morning to take individual photographs. Later in the year group pictures were taken. Meanwhile, the business staff was hard at work soliciting ads, in order that we might, if possible, bring you a bigger and better annual.

We have tried to portray to the best of our ability the highlights of the year 1946-47 by words and pictures. Here are the people you have known, those with whom you have worked and played—your close friends, your roommates, your fraternity brothers, your class leaders, your professors. Here are the clubs and honorary organizations to which you belonged; the parties and dances you attended, the Prom, Mid-winters, the Song Contest,

May Day. Here are the football, basketball, and hockey teams for which you cheered. Here is the University itself—the chapel, Keller Hall, the science buildings, the lake, the new dorm. We hope that when you look through our book you will recall happy and even sad occasions, and shed a tear or two in remembering. In the future, open the book occasionally and renew old acquaintances and revisit old familiar spots on the campus.

A new feature of the book is the recognition of the masculine pulchritude on the campus, "Mr. Richmond College" being chosen along with the Web Beauty by a panel of professional artists.

The world is on the cover of the Web, and throughout the book there are world figures. No matter what we thought of using as a theme, we always came back to One World, a world of peace, unity, and good citizenship. For we realized that, consciously or unconsciously, we are all working towards One World. We discovered that the organizations on the campus were working, in various ways, towards promoting world citizenship and better relations among nations. Thus we have endeavored to portray something of that spirit in our pages as we have seen it in action.

We admit that it has sometimes been a struggle to get write-ups in, pictures taken, and everything down to the printer's on time. We have spent more than one evening working late. Nevertheless, we have enjoyed compiling the Web, and we wish to thank the Baughman Printing Company for their personal interest and cooperation. Now the book is yours. Look at it and read it. We hope you like it!

The Messenger

Five times during the past year you were likely to find your friends with their noses buried in the Messenger, chuckling perhaps over William Bird, deeply engrossed in an editorial, or following the adventures of some hero or heroine of fiction. The Messenger, the oldest of the three student publications, affords any and all aspiring writers, whether their talents turn toward serious subjects, short stories, poems, or sheer nonsense, an opportunity to display those creative talents.

Fletcher Stiers, Jr., was appointed editor-in-chief this year and was assisted by Peggy Harris, Westhampton College Editor; Albert Saleeby, Richmond College Editor; and Frank Wentzel, Business Manager. LaVinia Watson, as Art Editor, dressed up the magazine with her cover sketches and inside illustrations. Verda Sletten held the post of Poetry Editor, contributing some very fine poems herself.

Readers of the Messenger will remember outstanding articles and stories published this year, including the very clever "Another Secret Diary of William Bird" (the story of a bird named William, decoded by Bill Garvey); the lovely "Moon Festival," by Elizabeth Hsu; and "Three Sundays" by Henry Traegle.

Young Men's Christian Association

The Young Men's Christian Association of Richmond College is an organization of all the students of Richmond College, whose purpose is to unit students to strengthen the spiritual life and influence of the college; to promote growth in Christian character and fellowship, and to encourage clean and healthful recreation and good sportsmanship among students.

The general organization is headed by a Cabinet, which carries on the business of the Association, sets its policy and outlines the activity for the year. This year's Cabinet started its official life with the election of its officers at a dinner meeting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Solon B. Cousins. Dr. Cousins is faculty adviser for the group. Officers elected were: Lawson Pankey, President; Edward Clark, Vice-President; Walter B. Hoover, Recording Secretary; Kent Kiser, Corresponding Secretary, and Calvin Campbell, Treasurer. Percy Gates was later elected Treasurer when Campbell left school to accept a job.

The first problem before the Cabinet was the renovation of the "Y" building on the campus, which had just been released from service by the Navy V-12 Unit. This work is still in progress. So far the Cabinet has furnished the large lounge, which is to provide a recreation center for the whole student body; several meeting rooms, which are for the use of any organization on the campus, and living quarters for two students, whose duties as caretakers help defray their expenses. Several ping-pong tables in the lounge have proved welcomed additions.

An orientation program for Summer School students was the first public project for the Council, which also sponsored vesper services in the Chapel during the entire summer and one vespter service a month during the winter session.

Joining the march toward better understanding among students of all nations the Cabinet conducted a drive on the campus for the World Student Service Fund, which provided aid to needy students in war-torn lands.

To facilitate easier communication between the students, the majority of whom live off the campus, the Cabinet posted a directory. This directory contained the name, home address, local address and telephone number of every student.

Looking back over the year the Cabinet realized they had only made a beginning in the reconversion program, which must follow every war. But it sincerely hoped they had laid a sound foundation on which following Cabinets might build toward the expressed goal of the organization.

Y. W. C. A.

Twelve hundred dollars is a lot of money. Yet the World Student Service Fund and the Y.W.C.A. knew that the students and professors of Europe's war-torn countries needed that money and needed it desperately. Their colleges and universities were no longer standing. Their books and equipment were destroyed. Undaunted, they endeavored to continue their studies in spite of the lack of facilities. Miss Giovanni Rivet, a student of the University of Rome, made us realize fully how devastated European universities were when she spoke to us about her experiences. The World Student Fellowship Committee of the Y.W.C.A. organized and promoted a W.S.S.F. drive on our campus. By ingenious projects like the "Lena the Hyena" contest and Tower Room auctions of hard-to-get items, Westhampton girls successfully raised over twelve hundred dollars.

The aim of the Y.W.C.A. is to fill the ever-growing needs of the students for an over-all religious organization on the campus, serving others as we grow ourselves. We have sought through the Worship, Church Cooperative, and Bible Study committees to meet individual religious needs; through evening devotional services, to create a more personal interest in religion.

Every one looks forward to the fall house-party at Roslyn, a time when girls get together in true fellowship. This year the week-end program included a Saturday evening discussion led by Miss Anne Wood, sponsor, and a Sunday morning worship service, plus football games on the lawn, walks to Bosher's Dam, good food and relaxation. On Hallowe'en evening the Y.W.C.A. again sponsored its traditional Hallowe'en supper. Spooky decorations, costumes, and skits presented by the classes filled the Westhampton dining room with real Hallowe'en atmosphere.

For a Westhampton girl Christmas activities include buying and wrapping gifts for the girls of the Virginia Industrial School. When the boxes were delivered, a group of girls visited the school. Then in the spring the Industrial School girls visited and toured our campus and were entertained at a picnic.

During the year, the Y.W.C.A. has endeavored to grow within itself, to serve in its own orbit, and, by such projects as the World Student Service Fund drive, to stretch beyond a helping hand to those who with us will build world unity.

The past year has climaxed one of the most active and successful debate seasons in the annals of the University! Under the tutorship of Professor Lloyd Pierce, Debate Coach, the University of Richmond Debate Team entered into five tournaments and approximately 75 debates. To date the Team has captured the two invitational tournaments it has entered and won 15 debates. The season was initiated at Natural Bridge, Virginia, when the Affirmative Team of Neil Cline and Caldwell Butler, and the Negative Team of John Chamberlayne and Kermit McKenzie walked away with Tau Kappa Alpha honors. At this as in all other debates, the national intercollegiate debate question has been argued. This topic is, Resolved: That labor should be given a direct share in the management of industry. Again in March, the debators took first honors in the University of Virginia Invitational Tournament, amassing a total of 75 points to 55 of their closest rival, Virginia. With Stanley Cohen, President of the Richmond College Forensic Council, acting as Moderator, debates in Richmond were inaugurated with Camp Lee. In the latter part of the season, the debate team participated in three tournaments: William and Mary Invitational, Grand National at Mary Washington College, and final Tau Kappa Alpha at Natural Bridge. Baine Harris entered in various public speaking contests at the Grand National. In addition to these, the first post-war debates were held with New York University, University of South Carolina, University of North Carolina, University of Florida, University of Indiana, Georgetown University, Swarthmore College, United States Military Academy, Bucknell, Western Reserve University, and Drew University.

Forensic Council

Choosing the theme "How to Further Forensics Interest on the Campus" around which to center their activities, the Forensic Council began the fall semester by aiding the literary societies in increasing their membership and by facilitating the transformation of the Westhampton Debate Council and the Richmond College Debate Team into a University Debate Team. Professor Pierce, newly appointed debate team coach, was welcomed by the Forensic Council, which asked him to serve as advisor.

Spring 1947 was one of the most active seasons in forensics history on the campus. The Forensic Council revised and ratified their Constitution, an unprecedented University oratorical contest took place; the Council sponsored Radio Forum activities, Intersociety debates, and Ladies' Night. A forensic banquet was attended as the finale to an active year, one which truly had seen the furtherance of forensic activities on the campus.

The University Choir

Christmas at the University of Richmond would not be complete without the presentation of Handel's The Messiah in Cannon Memorial Chapel by the University Choir. How much a part of our lives is religious music, and how well we realize that when we listen to the choir sing a favorite anthem. The choir plays an important role in college life by participating in various special programs and by providing music for weekly vesper programs and University convocations.

In the fall the choir, which is under the direction of Hilton Rufty, sang for the Community Chest Drive in Richmond and for President Modlin's inauguration on November 16, an occasion long to be remembered. Then, as a part of the traditional Christmas activities on campus, the choir presented excerpts from The Messiah.

Because it participates in community affairs, singing the music of the world, the University Choir promotes a spirit of Christianity so vital in a world striving for peace and unity.

Glee Club

The Glee Club owes its survival and success this year to the original spirit of willingness and determination to carry on in the usual tradition of the choral clubs. Although having to labor under many and varied handicaps, the Glee Club managed to live up to its reputation.

In the fall, Mr. Hilton Rufty, new head of the University of Richmond Music Department, was named director. An activating influence, his fine musicianship and amiable personality have done much to stimulate the interest of the members. Working with Mr. Rufty have been Johnny Howerton, president; Bill Gresham, vice-president; Ed Clark, business manager; "Skip" Fanney, secretary-treasurer; and Harold Smithson, librarian.

All during the singing season, the Glee Club enthusiastically accepted invitations to give concerts at various girls' colleges in the state. To top the calendar of events the club was honored by being invited to combine with the Mary Washington Glee Club in presenting their annual Christmas program.

With big plans in the making for next year, the coming of Spring and ideal outdoor weather brought the renewal of the Glee Club campus concert in the Greek Theatre, and made this the formal conclusion of the Club's activities on the campus this year.

Westhampton Glee Club

Among the various sounds issuing forth from Keller Hall during the past year could be distinguished the voices of the girls of the Westhampton Glee Club, practicing perhaps for a chapel program or for a pep rally—or perhaps just singing for the sheer joy of it. They were fortunate this year in having such a talented and amiable director as Miss Thelma Cook. Under her guidance, the Glee Club members developed a deeper appreciation of music, singing songs loved and sung all over the world. Assisting Miss Cook was Miss Mayme O'Flaherty, accompanist.

Membership was larger than it has been for several years, and by taking part in campus activities, the Glee Club maintained its popularity. In December it presented a beautiful program of Christmas music at the University convocations, including the perennial favorite O Holy Night and the lively Christmas Bells. A similar program was given at Easter time. A year of singing was climaxed by the annual spring concert presented at Westhampton.

Mu Sigma Rho Literary Society

"How to Grow Hair on a Billiard Ball" may not sound like such an intellectual subject, but the fact that a member of Mu Sigma Rho talked on the matter proves that while the literary society is seriously concerned with training in reading, declamation, public speaking, debating, and writing, meetings can be entertaining as well as educational.

Led by Jack Bull and Sim Taylor, first and second semester presidents, respectively, the Society has successfully recovered from the chaotic effects of the war. Its members, including many veterans, are especially interested in literary, scientific, and oratorical studies.

Concerned with all phases of life, Mu Sigma Rho was particularly active in its programs and discussions on the achievement of world unity. With the advantages of world travel and knowledge, which many of us did not possess before the war, we face the future realizing that such a dream of One World is entirely within the realm of possibility.

S. C. Mitchell Literary Society

"The moral leadership of the world is in the hands of the United States." These words of Dr. Gregory's have struck home to members of the S. C. Mitchell Literary Society. Desiring to contribute their share to the moral regeneration of the world in the wake of the war, they have maintained the Society's tradition of leadership and good citizenship throughout the past year. By offering to the student opportunities for declamation and debate, the organization has encouraged the growth of individual endeavor on the campus: the intellectual courage and discrimination so highly emphasized by Dr. S. C. Mitchell, for whom the Society was named, served as goals for each speaker who addressed the Society.

Programs of the past year have been characterized by both a national and an international tone. National issues discussed included the many problems of readjustment and the 1946 elections. The Society, however, looked beyond its own horizons and placed special emphasis upon a broader understanding of the questions confronting the world today, in order that ultimate moral regeneration of the world may become a reality.

Wesley Foundation

The Wesley Foundation, a branch of the nationwide Methodist Student Movement, was organized at the University of Richmond in January of this year. This organization, although new, has become an active force toward the furtherance of religious expression on the campus.

Its purpose is to acquaint the student with the joy and inspiration derived by those who take part in Christian work, irrespective of different lines of study and future work. Organized primarily as a guide for Methodist Students, everyone is invited to participate.

If you come upon two Richmond College men hunched over a board, emitting now and then only a mutter or two, do not become alarmed. They are members of the Chess Club, organized in the summer of 1946 by a group of ardent "woodshifters." Receiving the unanimous approval of the faculty, they formed the club with the primary aim of promoting interest in chess and providing an organization for chessplay of the faculty and students.

In addition to over-the-board play, the club offered during weekly meetings instruction in various phases of the game, emphasizing the fundamentals of opening theory, analysis of major defenses, end-game procedure, and chess notation. Members benefitted from the wide experience and keen playing ability of Professor Baine, faculty adviser.

Among the club's activities this past year were student-faculty matches and the contest with the University of Virginia, the first intercollegiate chess match held between Virginia schools. In the series of contests with the faculty, the students were victorious in the first encounter, but lost two subsequent matches. Regardless of the outcome, both teams concluded that such contests were beneficial and enjoyable and should become regular events.

The Philologian Literary Society, in seeking to bring the attention of its members to current world problems, has endeavored to center the theme of its program around events in the world of today, especially those which will lead us in closer harmony with the other nations of the world. Discussions also revolve around the needs on our own campus and the ways in which we might improve present conditions. In its more informal moments the society turns to topics of a humorous nature. The purposes of the society, founded in 1856, are to foster forensic activities on the campus, to train a man to speak before others, and to help him learn to think "on his feet."

This year the society has been progressing very well under the guidance of Morris Cather, President, and Kent Kiser, Vice-President. Bill Winn has been most efficient as Secretary while Tom Caulkins has held the finances of the society dear to his heart. Russell Lang has been serving the society in the capacity of Representative to the Forensic Council. Philologian, reorganized in February of 1946, has added new members and is making great strides forward until it has at last reached its pre-war standard.

Christian Volunteer Association

We can never hope to realize the dream of One World without the help of missionaries. Actively connected with the National Student Volunteer Movement, the Christian Volunteer Association assists the various mission boards in establishing contact with mission volunteers. Several members of the group have volunteered for foreign missions, two for home missions. Others are interested in religious education student work and in teaching Bible.

The purpose of the Association is to unite students of Westhampton and Richmond Colleges who are planning to enter religious work as a career. By presenting speakers from various fields of religious work, the organization helps members to understand more clearly the World Mission of Christianity and helps them find the place in which they may render the best service.

The highlight of the year's activities of the Christian Volunteer Association was a Mission Focus Week. The group also cooperated with the other religious organizations in sponsoring weekly vesper services. All members participated in mission work in the city by teaching Sunday School, speaking on missions, and working with the Missions and Goodwill Centers of Richmond. Through their various activities, the Christian Volunteers are working towards their goal of building "One World while we serve as we study."

A piano and a stack of sheet music may be said to characterize the Ionian Music Club. The members of the club, University students taking applied music courses, vocal and instrumental, are seriously interested in deepening their appreciation of music. During the past year the club programs and chapel recitals developed musical talent and audience poise in the student performers. Radio broadcasts broadened the field of activity and offered valuable experience to participants. The club this year was under the leadership of Elizabeth Koltukian, president, and Mrs. Frank Wendt, adviser. Various concerts presented by the music department truly helped to promote a fuller appreciation of music, the international language that can be understood by every man, no matter what tongue he speaks nor where he lives.

The Math Club

We are living in a scientific age, one in which mathematics plays an immeasurable role. It is the primary aim of the Math Club, organized at the University in 1945, to increase interest in higher mathematics and to cultivate an appreciation for its application in related fields. An honorary society, it recognizes scholastic achievement by accepting as members all students of mathematics who have shown outstanding interest in and aptitude for the subject.

The club sponsors occasional social functions in an effort to develop more balanced personalities and to encourage more intimate relations among its members. This year the immediate objective has been affiliation with the American Mathematical Society, in order to increase the value of membership as a professional asset.

The Ministerial Association

For the patients of the Virginia Home for Incurables, Friday afternoon is probably the brightest spot in the week. It is then that the Ministerial Association, with the help of the Young Men's Christian Association, the Baptist Student Union, and the Christian Volunteer Association, holds its services. Under the leadership of Jack Brizendine, vice-president, a variety of helpful programs have been presented there this year, including speakers, song services, and a film on the life of Dr. George W. Truett. By such services, and by sponsoring vesper programs each month, the association has tried to maintain a spirit of cooperation.

Bi-monthly programs of an educational and wholesome nature have helped to "unit the ministerial students in a closer relationship of brotherly love and to lead in encouraging the maintenance of a high moral standard on the campus." Among the many inspiring speakers heard were Dr. Louie Newton, president of the Southern Baptist Convention; Dr. T. B. Maston from Southwestern Seminary, and Dr. Poteat from Colgate-Rochester.

Cooperating with the American Bible Society, the Association distributed leaflets for daily Bible reading. Tours were made of the Baptist Building and the Foreign Mission Board in Richmond. The Ministerial students had an unusual opportunity to interview prisoners at the penitentiary. On the social side, the association held a party at Byrd Park, and took part in the All-Campus party given by the Baptist Student Union. On the last Sunday in April, the ministerial students filled the puplits of the neighboring churches.

The association has been blessed by the continued help and wisdom imparted by Dr. Solon B. Cousins and Jack R. Noffsinger, Director of Religious Activities. The lives of all the members have been broadened and deepened by the activities of the year, one in which the rifles of war were replaced by "the sword of the spirit."

The Newman Club

The pathway to acquaintance and association with those of one's own faith is often difficult in the complex society of campus life. Dr. Timothy L. Harrington, recognizing this need, established the first Newman Club at the University of Pennsylvania in 1893. It has so successfully served the purpose of developing an organization through which Catholic students can share their mutual culture and fellowship, strengthening and fortifying their own spiritual ideals, that it has spread to virtually every large university or college in the United States, Canada, and the Orient. The ideals of the Newman Club are those of its patron, John Cardinal Newman, namely: love of truth, honesty, hatred of duplicity and coarseness, refinement of manner, gentleness, and manliness.

The first Newman Club was established at the University of Richmond in 1941 by the Rev. Dr. Francis J. Blakely of the Sacred Heart Cathedral. Suffering a loss of membership during the war, as did other campus organizations, it has once more assumed leadership among the Catholic students at this institution, under its capable President, Louis Miller.

Baptist Student Union

Last fall the first All-Campus Party ever to be sponsored by a religious organization on the campus was given by the Baptist Student Union at Keller Hall, and "a good time was had by all." This party was only one of the beginnings made by the B. S. U. during the past year. A new constitution was formulated; a Greater Council, composed of selected students of the organization, was created and set in action. Lastly, the B. S. U. held youth revivals at Louisa Courthouse, Warrenton, Hopewell, and Roanoke, Virginia.

Carrying on their regular activities, B. S. U. members attended the South-wide Retreat at Ridgecrest, North Carolina, in June, 1946, and the pre-school retreat at Westhampton. Early in the year, university students were urged to join the church. In early November, a local delegation of thirty students chartered a bus to attend the State B.S.U. Convention in Bristol, Tennessee-Virginia, where a Richmond College student was elected State President of the B. S. U. During Religious Emphasis Week in February, the B. S. U. assisted in visitation. They spent a week-end at Roslyn and attended a Spring Retreat held at the Orchid Avenue Baptist Church in Newport News during the last week in April.

The connecting link between the local churches and the students, the Baptist Student Union through its various activities helps to build a spirit of Christian faith and fellowship, so vital in the unified world we are striving to build.

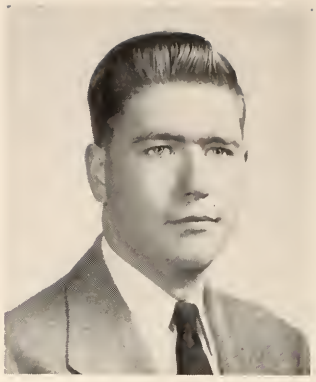
University Players



Simeon Taylor
President

The curtain rose on a scene laid in a British field hospital. The play was The Hasty Heart, the first performance of the 1946-47 theater season, presented by the University Players under the direction of Alton Williams. Doris Vickers was most convincing as the nurse, while Shelley Harrell played a very effective Scotsman, complete with kilts and bagpipe. The Hasty Heart, a play pleading for world unity, is the voice of the theater, which expresses the feeling, emotions, and ideals of the people the world over. The second offering was The Male Animal, a satirical comedy on American college life and "ye ole spirit," capably directed by William Maner, a new faculty member.

Prof. William's home was the scene of the winter and spring initiations. There, after a delicious feast of the professor's one and only "Dago's Delight," President Sim Taylor welcomed the new members into the Players' ranks. Also, Shelton Belsches, an old Player, received his "welcome home".

Spring was ushered in with the hilarious "Bar-Nothing" Revue, in which all University students were invited to participate. Somerset Maughm's "Home and Beauty" was the first three-act of the spring semester. Four one-acts, directed by four of the Players themselves, followed this. The delightful "Joan of Lorraine," by Maxwell Anderson, was the last offering of the season.

The University Players have contributed much to the entertainment and cultural life of the campus. By working together to promote art, they have shown that spirit of cooperation which is so vital in learning to live and work together in harmonious unity.

The psychologists of tomorrow, now students at the University of Richmond, may gain practical experience by becoming members of the Psychology Club. Organized in 1944 for psychology majors and minors, the club offers an opportunity for practical application of classroom knowledge and first-hand information of psychopathical situations and conditions in society. Students are guided to the opportunities open to them in the field of psychology. Programs have been entertaining and beneficial, particularly talks by speakers from varied fields of psychological work.

Students are eligible for membership when they have completed twelve hours of psychology with a "B" average. Initiation took place in the spring, followed by a party at the home of Dr. Carver.

The Radio Guild

The University of Richmond Radio Guild has a place for persons of various talents, whether they are interested in announcing, script writing, dramatics, or radio technique. Gathering cohorts from every class and course, the Guild has formed a smooth-working unit that offers worthwhile instruction and experience in the art of broadcasting and control work.

Advancing steadily, the Guilders have expanded their scope during the past year, and boasted weekly broadcasts aired over a local station, broadcasts sometimes serious, sometimes light, sometimes musical, sometimes dramatic. These programs extended not only to listeners in Virginia, but also to those in Maryland and North Carolina.

Having been discontinued during the war, the Radio Guild, under the direction of Professor Alton Williams and the guidance of Langley Wood, has been reestablished on the campus with renewed interest and vigour.

The Canterbury Club

"The first meeting of the Canterbury Club will be held next Monday night in the Faculty Sitting Room. All Episcopal students are welcome." Happily a large number of students turned out for the organizational meeting of one of the youngest clubs on the campus. Temporary officers were elected, and two weeks later a constitution was drawn up. Dr. Edward Peple and the Rev. Reno S. Harp, Rector of St. Stephen's Church, supervised the organization of the club and have acted as advisers ever since. Membership is open to all students who are confirmed Episcopalians or who are about to be confirmed. Honorary membership is maintained for faculty members and alumni.

As stated in the constitution the aim of the Canterbury Club is "to serve the Mission of Christianity in higher education by fostering among the students of the University a better understanding of the Faith and Practice of the Episcopal Church and loyalty to its corporate life. Pro Christo per Ecclesiam."

Although the Canterbury Club is young, it promises to be an active organization—its work towards a world characterized by Christian brotherhood being symbolized by the corporate communions of which all members partake.

The Chemistry Club is an organization for the purpose of furthering interest in Chemistry, promoting more intimate relations between the students of Chemistry, and recognizing those students who have shown ability and interest in Chemistry at the University of Richmond. Each year at the Honors Convocation, the Chemistry Club Honors are awarded for recognition of attainment in this field of science. Addresses by prominent chemists and members of the club and tours of local chemical industries and laboratories give the members inspiration and information about chemical subjects not covered in the regular scholastic program.

At the close of another successful college year, the Club sincerely hopes that it has contributed, in its small way, to the unity and mutual understanding among scientists and scientists-to-be, and has instilled in these minds the absolute necessity of the common bond of men for the preservation of a scientific but tattered world.

The modern age realizes the important role that students of the sciences play in building the world of tomorrow. Their interest in scientific research indicates the scholarly level on which all students must work in order to help us understand all peoples and achieve a lasting peace and world unity.

Beta Beta Beta is the national honorary fraternity for students of the biological sciences. It seeks to encourage scholarly attainment in this field of learning by limiting its membership to those who achieve superior academic records and who indicate special aptitude for the subject of biology.

The Beta Theta Chapter of Beta Beta Beta was organized on the University of Richmond campus in 1939. In November the chapter welcomed ten active members and five provisional members.

This year Tri-Beta sponsored two projects. The first was a series of seminar lectures which different members prepared and led at the meetings. The second project was started as a service to all students who frequent the biology building. Members of Beta Beta rearranged and worked on some of the display cases on either side of the entrance to the building. It is the hope of this year's club that these efforts will be an incentive to Beta Beta Beta members of future years.

The Varsity Club

Membership in the Varsity Club is reserved for those who have achieved varsity letters in any of the four major sports—football, basketball, baseball, and track. Just as many similar organizations this union of varsity men became a war casualty and remained inactive during those trying times. Late in the first semester, however, the Varsity Club organized and began immediately to function under the leadership of its new officers. Chosen for these positions were President Bill Scheerer, Vice-President Joe LaLuna, Secretary Dick Hensley and Treasurer "Cotton" Billingsley.

The united wearers of the "R" stand on several basic beliefs. One of these is the University itself—its traditions, her standards of scholarship and her devotion to clean sound manhood. These monogram men have come to believe in the team. "All for one, and one for all" is the motto which typifies the spirit of unity and cooperation which predominates these athletic minds.

Their hearts are in the game because they realize it is a challenge to their courage and spirit. The game teaches them by testing their skills to exert patience and self control for it vividly instructs them in the "give and take" of life in general. It is an opportunity to exercise the manhood of youth in constructive channels.

The men of the Varsity Club realize and strive to assure their duties as owners of the coveted "R." Their aim is to promote sportsmanship and contribute toward a higher level of school spirit in the institution to which they have pledged their best in not only athletic endeavor, but in all phases of campus life.

Each man wants to be deserving of his own recognition so that the standards of excellence may be held high for the on coming scholastic generations. They expect no handouts, but remain prepared to work and sweat to achieve prized goods.

The men of this Monogram Club believe, finally, in the victory acknowledging that it is not always shown on the scoreboard, but is imprinted indelibly in the heart upon having succeeded in giving his best. Always will be in these members of the Varsity Club the desire to fight that eternal glory may be won for the University of Richmond.

The Harlequin Club

One might say that the Harlequin Club has adopted the good neighbor policy, for its primary purpose is to foster better relations between Richmond College and Westhampton College. Westhampton organizations are free to call on the manpower of the group to aid in decorating for its functions.

Composed of the president and two other outstanding members of each social fraternity, the organization completely reorganized this year. A new constitution was adopted, including a symbolic key and a set of colors.

Keller Hall was the scene of the Harlequin Club's annual Winter Dance, a formal affair. In promoting better relations on the campus, the club has helped to point the way toward better relations between nations the world over.

For a week in January cardboard boxes lined the halls of the Westhampton dormitory. Occasionally some one dropped in a sweater or a blouse or a pair of shoes. The French Club, Les Femmes Savantes, realizing the needs of the many destitute families of war-torn Europe, were collecting clothing for French relief. Miss Johnson, a representative from the Richmond Y.W.C.A., in a chapel talk urged Westhampton girls to aid Les Femmes Savantes. She had recently spent some time in Paris and had seen how, despite the renewed air of gaity, the people were desperately in need of clothing. Without the help of Americans in this time of need, no degree of world unity could ever be achieved. Westhampton's contributions of cast-off clothing were packed in boxes under the supervision of Madame Brot and sent off to destitute students in France.

The College Government Room was decorated with pine branches and lighted candles in the windows. In one corner was an improvised altar. Outside the door a group of "peregrinos" waited to make the journey to Bethlehem. It was the night of the Spanish Pinata and members of the Spanish Club, El Picaro, were celebrating Christmas as the Mexican children do, going from house to house looking for a place for Mary and Joseph to stay. At the altar they sang to the Christ Child. Then the Pinata, full of candy and presents, was broken open, while all stood around and watched.

The members of El Picaro now look back upon a year crowded with gay events, set against a background of lively tempos of Hispanic-American phases of culture. Guided by their interest in speaking, singing, and listening to the Spanish language, they have studied the customs, personalities, and folk-lore of Spanish-speaking countries, with primary aims of foreign friendship links. Under the enthusiastic guidance of Miss Gloria Vicedomini and Miss Mary MacDonald, they have temporarily stepped into a land of Spanish enchantment. El Picaro members will long remember their Pan-American festivities and the Christmas Pinata.

"Grandma, where did you go to College?" a young girl may ask, and a member of the class of '47—or perhaps of '50—will tell of her four years at Westhampton. But there are many girls here whose mothers, grandmothers, or aunts attended not Westhampton, but its predecessors, the Richmond Female Institute, chartered ninety-three years ago, or the Woman's College of Richmond. The name may have changed and the location may be different but the ideals and traditions cherished by those who have gone before are now entrusted to their daughters, Nostrae Filiae.

Organized in 1936, Nostrae Filiae has been active ever since under the sponsorship of Mrs. Jack L. Epps, an alumnae of the Woman's College. Founder's Day was observed on October first by a chapel program and luncheon, with Mrs. Charles Marsh as guest speaker. Just as their mothers now take an active part in community affairs, so the members of Nostrae Filiae will become the citizens and leaders of the world of tomorrow.

The International Relations Club

We are now living through a period of transition in world history and it is vitally important that college students keep themselves well informed on contemporary affairs. It is the primary purpose of the International Relations Club to stimulate an interest in national and international events. At each meeting informal talks are followed by a discussion. Topics are suggested by members and every one has an opportunity to express her opinions.

A national organization, the International Relations Club is sponsored by the Carnegie Foundation for World Peace, which supplies the club with the latest books and bulletins on current affairs. Dr. Susan B. Lough is sponsor of the club.

An unbiased study of world events gives a clearer understanding of present-day changes. The conscious effort of the International Relations Club to keep abreast of the times is a real contribution to the building of world citizenship.

Athens is a name which implies a historical background and cultural heritage of which the western world is ever conscious. How significant it is that the members of Eta Sigma Phi chose as their project this year to aid financially the University of Athens, one of the many European universities left devastated by the recent war. Christmas cards and greeting cards of all kinds were sold in order to raise money.

Eta Sigma Phi, the honorary classic fraternity at Westhampton, recognizes those students who have excelled in the study of Latin and Greek. As the classics have contributed largely to the cultural development of the world, it is the purpose of Eta Sigma Phi to enhance the appreciation of the classics and promote an interest in the peoples of the ancient world. In aiding the students of the University of Athens, the organization has helped bring the eastern and western worlds closer together and has promoted a better understanding of the people of other nations.

Who's Who

Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges is the overall distinction for outstanding college students—a nation-wide organization that recognizes service to the school, campus activities, scholarship, and all honorary and social organizations to which a student may belong. Developing into an integral part of college and business life, Who's Who is functioning in several vital capacities, namely:

(1) As an incentive for students to get the best results from their college experience.

(2) As a means of compensation to students for what they have already achieved.

(3) As a standard of measurement for students comparable to other recognized scholastic and service organizations.

(4) As a recommendation of successful students to the business world.

The basis of consideration for selection to Who's Who is character, scholarship, leadership in extra-curricular activities, and potentiality for future usefulness to business and society. Juniors, seniors, and students in advanced work are eligible. One of its most interesting features is the Student Placement Service, through which students are recommended to American employers who are seeking capable college graduates to fill responsible positions. Also is published by Who's Who an annual compilation of biographies of distinguished students throughout the nation.

Interfraternity Council

The fraternities are organized in what is known as the Interfraternity Council, which consists of a representative of each of the eleven social fraternities and three members of the faculty. This organization has general supervision over all matters of a fraternity nature. The members of the faculty have no vote, but serve as officers in an advisory capacity.

It was back in 1914 when the Greek letter fraternities realized their need for a central cooperative body to aid in executing the policies with which the Greeks were concerned. From a small beginning the Interfraternity Council was formed, and has grown to be in function and service, a strong activating influence on the campus. In this connection, the Council has functioned as an active and vital campus group—interpreting rush rules, awarding interfraternity scholarships and athletic trophies, sponsoring three sets of dances, and keeping in tact the eleven Greek letter organizations.

In the supervision and administration of the three sets of dances known as Opening, Mid-winters, and Finals, the Interfraternity Dance Committee was formed which inaugurated a new system of budgeting which has proved highly efficient and beneficial to the student body. Known simply as the Subscription Plan, the new system allows fraternity and non-fraternity men alike, to purchase a Subscription Card for the three Interfraternity Dance Sets at a substantial reduction in cost. This year the Council prided itself in securing its own campus orchestra for the Mid-winter Dances. Art Baldwin . . . the name at any rate . . . wasn't "big time," but Baldwin's music definitely was. The dance was a great success. Jimmy Dorsey and Chuck Foster were scheduled to play for Finals.

Concerned primarily this year with proper regulations to govern fraternity rushing, pledging, and initiation, the Council worked out a satisfactory set of regulations for next year. Again intramural athletics were promoted with a great deal of success and spirited competition.

The Interfraternity Council has done much to promote a common spirit of fellowship and regard among the eleven social fraternities.

Alpha Delta

Founded at Richmond College in 1923

Established at Richmond College in 1923, Alpha Delta fraternity is a professional fraternity, composed only of ministerial students, one which brings together a group of men who will in the future be related both professionally and socially. This year, due to the housing shortage and the large student body, the fraternity used room "C" of the administration building as a meeting place.

Active in their own field, five of the brothers are pastors of churches, while all the others are supply ministers or Sunday School teachers, thus making definite contributions to the churches in or near Richmond. The brothers are grateful for the experience which the city churches offer them.

This was a banner year for Alpha Delta, particularly because it was their first year of intramural sports participation. As a result, the "Jaspers" placed two brothers on the all-campus intramural football team. The high-powered school spirit of the ministers was witnessed by all who viewed the huge placards placed about the campus by the brothers, prior to each football game.

At Christmas time, the men received a great deal of pleasure by taking over the role of Santa Claus in order to help one of Richmond's needy families.

The social life of the fraternity was well-organized and well-rounded. The year began with an outing at Bryan Park. Just before Thanksgiving came the long to be remembered Chicken-in-the-Rough party at the Wakefield Grill. An exciting bowling party was the feature of the second semester. The climax of the entire year was reached on March 14, when the annual formal banquet was held at the Hotel John Marshall. The Reverend Roland Wagner was guest speaker and the Reverend Emmete Robinson served as toastmaster.

Alpha Delta had a highly successful year, one in which the "Jaspers" took a leading part in all extra-curricular activities.

Kappa Alpha

Founded at Washington and Lee in 1865

Eta Chapter

Established at Richmond College in 1870

Although Kappa Alpha has been in existence only eighty-two years, it has grown to a national organization of 69 chapers, found only over the territory south of the Mason-Dixon Line. The fraternity is represented in all southern and western states from the Atlantic to the Golden Gate, with the exception of Arizona and Nevada.

The most notable event of the year was Dr. Modlin's election as President of the University of Richmond. He assumed this position on June 15, 1946. During the difficult war years he served as Faculty Advisor to Eta Chapter and since as the most valued member of its Reactivation Committee. Never too busy to give his time and helpful council, Dr. Modlin has largely assisted in keeping the chapter active. Kappa Alphas will watch with confidence his elevation to greater responsibilities because this brother has taken the ideals of the Order as a pattern for a life of service to the youth of the South.

Under the leadership of L. L. McGee, a University dance band was organized. Andy Roupas, Charles Pugh, and David Richardson are also members of the aggregation. The music of these boys has often highlighted various social functions of ours and the campus.

Under the fine leadership of Roy Shelton, Randy Carter, and Bill Pendleton, there have been many enjoyable parties. Outstanding among these were the houseparty in June and the barn dance at the Corley's. The Christmas Dance at the Mosque Ball Room was greatly enjoyed by all.

The fall elections saw our president Willard Osburn inaugurated as Vice-President of Student Government, Russell Lang appointed to the Honor Council, and Tom Edmonds appointed Circulation Manager of the Web.

Paul Morante completed his studies at Richmond in February. David Richardson and John Brickert have left us to continue their studies at Dental School and V.P.I., respectively. Robert Ooghe and "Hank" Corley report things going fine at Annapolis and "Bucky" Corley reports the same from West Point.

One of the greatest events that has taken place in the history of Order was the session of the first National School for Chapter Officers and Province Commanders which was held at the Hotel Seelbach in Louisville, Kentucky, in August, with Tom Edmonds representing Eta.

Beta Beta Chapter

Established at Richmond College in 1898

The Beta Beta Chapter of Kappa Sigma started its first near-normal postwar year with the largest membership in the history of the Richmond Chapter, having regained possession of the house on Fraternity Row. Beta Beta's brothers were determined to carry on the traditions that caused five men to lay the foundations of the fraternity at the University of Virginia in 1869. In particular, the Richmond Chapter of the followers of the Scarlet, Green, and White looked forward to its best year since Beta Beta was founded at this school in 1898.

The house was returned by the University from wartime use in June 1946, and by extensive renovations and new furnishing was put into excellent condition for exclusive use by the brothers in the fall term. Eighteen Kappa Sigmas moved into the house, and the social season got underway early with parties after the Spider football team played its first night football game.

In the true tradition of the Richmond Chapter Beta Beta was well represented in Spider athletics. Fritz Laurinitis, co-captained the football team from his guard position, and combined with backs Jack Wilborune and Pat Fenlon to number three of the starting eleven. Laurinitis and Wilbourne climaxed extremely successful seasons in being named to the All-State team. Spring found Tommy Nichols, Ed Johnson, and Fenlon bolstering Mac Pitt's diamond squad.

In other campus activities Kappa Sigs were in similar positions of leadership. Wilbourne was president of the Junior Class, Jack Greene, Junior Senator, and Jack Dickson, Treasurer of the Sophomore Class. Fenlon was a member of ODK.

The Kappa Sigma intramural football team started the intramural ball rolling by copping the Greek Championship with one of the most powerful intramural aggregations in the history of the school.

Richmond's delayed rushing season brought a bumper crop of pledges who went to work under the direction of Goatmaster "Rusty" Warren and promised to bring Kappa Sig strength in future years. Howard Moore, Jack Wilbourne, Bob McDanel, Bill Hinnant, and Jack Greene performed capably as chapter officers.

Alpha Chi Zeta Chapter

Established at Richmond College in 1918

Founded November 9, 1909, at Boston University, Lambda Chi Alpha has grown until it is now an international fraternity, the second largest national fraternity. Alpha Chi Zeta Chapter was organized at the University of Richmond May 8, 1918.

In October, 1942, the chapter moved into the former Alpha Delta house on the hill at the head of the lake. Great plans were in store for the fraternity when the war broke out. Our country called, and we, too, assumed our share of the responsibility of protecting our way of life. There were great distances between us, but our affection for Alpha Chi was proportionately increased. During the war years, due to the military drain on prospective college men, Alpha Chi became inactive.

In February, 1946, Senior Brother "T" Bareford, acting with a small but earnest group of initiates, laid down a plan of structure and of reorganization. Results of "rush" season were gratifying. In May, new officers were elected for the fall term, including C. L. Woody as president.

Brother Bareford was awarded in June, 1946, the Alumni Medal, presented annually to the outstanding member of the senior class. He was a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, Pi Delta Epsilon, and Tau Kappa Alpha honorary fraternities. The fraternity chose him to represent Alpha Chi at the Lambda Chi Alpha International Conference at Toronto, Canada, in August, 1946.

The fall social season opened with a dinner given by the chapter alumni in the Flemish Room of Hotel Jefferson, on the evening of the annual Richmond College Homecoming. Guest speaker was Ellis Derby, Grand High Alpha. Also present was Traveling Secretary Alan Harding, an alumnus of the University of Texas.

The next date on the social calendar was marked by a closed dance held at the Chesterfield Country Club. Among the chaperones were Dean and Mrs. Pinchbeck and the Hon. Virgil Goode of the Virginia House of Legislature.

Outstanding positions on the campus were held by "Pee-Wee" Philpott, sophomore class treasurer; Al Saleeby, Richmond College Editor of the Messenger, treasurer of the Harlequin Club, and medical assistant in the University health service; Bob Love, assistant director of the University Band. "Big John" Griffin represented Lambda Chi on the varsity football squad, and "Dumpy" White, Lambda Chi's "fast" man, participated in track events. The brothers distinguished themselves in intramural athletics in 1946 by their winning softball team, captained by C. L. Woody.

Fraternity officers for the year 1946-47 were Al Saleeby, president; "Pee-Wee" Philpott, vice-president; "Dumpy" White, secretary; and Bobby Philpott, treasurer.

"To those men who have not returned, we pledge ourselves to build another chapter as strong physically, mentally, and spiritually as the chapter they knew."

Rho Chapter

Established at Richmond College in 1925

Since 1925, when the Rho Chapter of Phi Alpha was installed at the University of Richmond, the fraternity was expanded and developed, becoming an intergral part of campus life. This year, with a large number of men returning to school, Phi Alpha has continued to participate in college affairs and to strengthen the meaning of fraternity among its members.

Phi Alpha activities have included social, athletic, and educational programs. In the field of education and student government, notable contributions have been made. Grand Regent Larry Yoffy was chairman of the Honor Council, member of the Harlequin Club, art editor of the Web, and cartoonist for the Collegian. Brothers Mel Segal and Saul Luria represented Rho in the Mu Sigma Rho Literary Society, serving as vice-president and secretary, respectively, for the first semester.

Rho was not lacking in representation in forensic literary, and dramatic activities on the campus. Brother Murray Hermelin was a member of the University Players. Herb Liebman, Sidney Berz, and Al Evans worked on the Collegian staff while Jerry Leon worked as a photographer for the Web staff. Al Evans carried Rho colors on the Debate Team.

After holding several minor social functions, the first post-war annual Rho Tau week-end dance was held in conjunction with the Tau chapter of Phi Alpha from William and Mary. This proved to be one of the outstanding social events on the Richmond College calendar. On the athletic field, Rho displayed fighting spirit in all intramural contests.

President Larry Yoffy was honored by being elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, and Omicron Delta Kappa. He was also named the distinguished undergraduate among Phi Alpha fraternity men in the United States, an award presented annually by the fraternity to an undergraduate for his leadership, scholarship, and character.

Actively participating in every phase of college life on the university campus, the members of Rho look to the future when they may take a more active and important share in the campus life of their revered Alma Mater.

Virginia Delta Chapter

Established at Richmond College in 1875

Virginia Delta of Phi Delta Theta enjoyed one of the most successful years of its history under the leadership of H. D. "Bill" Jordan. Not only did the chapter come through the year shining in social and athletic work, but after a moderate start, the academic standing of the "Phi Delts" showed that veterans as well as non-vets were capable of honor work. Discharges and rushing made seats hard to find at "The Little House on Towano." Eleven initiates returned with the opening of the fall session, and when rush week was over Phi Delt badges went to a dozen freshmen and almost as many upperclassmen, at a pledge banquet held at the dining room of the downtown Y.M.C.A.

Answering Coach Fenlon's football call were Laluna, Miller, Jack Jones, Al Rinaldi, Bade and Lumpkin, with Jim Jeter doing the chores of manager. Under the guidance of Ciola, the intramural squad finished second in League B, placing three on the all-frat seven man team. Miller captained the Spider five with Jones and Rinaldi seeing plenty of action. The trio stuck together on Coach Pitt's baseball team this spring with letterman Kastlebery returning to his garden spot in rightfield and Stubbs doing some fine twinling on the mound. The "Phi Five" were defending champions in a fast interfrat league. Cunningham and Kinsey were prospects for Coach Crane's newly organized track team.

Bill Jordan was the Collegian's photographer and served in both the Interfraternity Council and Better Relations Committee; sang in the men's chorus. "Thumper" Cash served as president of the Sophomore Class; Jeter was on the "Y" Cabinet; Smith and Cooley worked with the University Players, while other Phis held important offices in various social and literary clubs on the campus.

The brothers helped make the three large dances in Milhiser a success by pitching in to help decorate, attend, and clean up, but probably the greatest social events for the chapter for the year were the Spring Formal and the Christmas Ball, held at the Mosque Ballroom, on December 17. At other parties the "Phi Delt Quartet," composed of Miller, Jordan, Morrissett, with Lin Jones at the piano, sang many an encore during the intermissions with their frat and barber shop harmony plus a little "Way Back in the Hills" music.

Phi Delta Theta has upheld the spirit of fellowship and brotherly love, which has aided in this post-war period of striving for peace in One World—our world.

Phi Gamma Delta

Founded at Washington and Jefferson in 1848

Rho Chi Chapter

Established at Richmond College in 1890

Under the "Fiji tree" was kept alive this year the spirit of Phi Gamma Delta's Rho Chi chapter here on the Richmond campus. Scarcely had the university closed its doors in September after accepting some 1,150 students, when the largest number of Fijis ever to be in school together joined hands in the traditional chain of the Fraternity. The notes of "College songs and college lays" rang loud and clear. It was the largest chain in many a year and for most of the brothers it was the first time their link had been rejoined to that chain, temporarily broken during the war years.

The housing situation was an immediate problem and a pressing one for a chapter so large as Rho Chi. During the war the house on Towano Road had gone the way of all good houses on the climbing real estate market, and was no longer in the hands of the Fijis. Handicapped by such a problem, but by no means dismayed, the fraternity men gathered daily at the noon hour under the big tree by the science quadrangle, and its lofty limbs became a symbol of the fellowship and unity which was to prevail within the chapter. For the weekly meetings, the men gathered in the recreation hall of the Second Baptist Church, and brother "Pete" Dunford offered his basement as a recreation room later in the semester.

No organization, large or small, can succeed without leaders, and the returning men were quick to elect their officers for the year. Walton Mallory was elected president for the second time, having served in that capacity before he left for service, Walter Hyer was named secretary; George Longaker, treasurer; Billy Rowe, corresponding secretary; and Cliff Long, historian.

Joining in the whirl of postwar campus social life, the Fijis soon were on the calendar of events. They opend the year with a novel "Shipwreck Dance" at the Virginia Boat Club, and intermission parties at Openings and Mid-Winters, an Interfraternity Dance, and a Spring Formal were highlights throughout the term.

On the athletic field, a big Purple team overran and in most cases walloped its opponents to take the championship in the League A football contest. Three Rho Chi gridmen, Walton Mallory, Solon Cousins, and Roland Elliot, were named to the All-Intramural Team. A battle with the Kappa Sigs, League B winners, for the campus championship, brought a 13-13 deadlock, and ended finally, in a playoff of the tie, with the Kappa Sigma men taking the crown by a 21-6 score after a bitter battle.

Throughout the entire semester, and in every corner of the campus, the gleams of the white star on the black diamond shone in campus activities, and radiated with honors. Solon Cousins led the Richmond College student body as president of Student Government, Walton Mallory was president of the seniors, Cliff Long edited the Collegian, Caldwell Butler was Richmond College Activities Editor of the Web, "Sugar" Ralston placed the Purple and White on the All-State varsity eleven, and big Reid Spencer was outstanding on the varsity gridiron and president of the Canterbury Club.

Fijis took part in every organization. Caldwell Butler argued with the Debate Team, Cliff Long and Stuart Massie joined Mallory in the Harlequin Club, and Long served as secretary of the Student Activities Council. "G.G." Longaker was chairman of the Dance Committee and Mallory was chairman of the Inter-fraternity Better Relations Committee.

In the honor fraternities, the chapter was equally active. Long served as president of Pi Delta Epsilon, and Cousins was vice-president of Omicron Delta Kappa. Three other Fijis joined Cousins in the ranks of ODK in January when the circle tapped Mallory, Long, and alumni brother "Pete" Dunford.

For the year past, these were only a few of Rho Chi's achievements. Under the Fiji Tree the spirit was kept alive, and under the Fiji Tree that spirit grew. With the Rho Chi chin growing ever stronger, the song of loyal Fijis rang ever clearer. "Phi Gamma Delta still to thee, our hearts will turn eternally."

Phi Chapter

Established at Richmond College in 1873

Phi Chapter of the Phi Kappa Sigma Fraternity was founded on the Richmond College Campus January 15, 1873, being one of the oldest chapters of one of the oldest fraternities on the campus. Except for the period from June 19, 1944 until February, 1946, when the Phi Kaps had answered the call to service, to and including the last man, the Chapter has been active without interruption up to the present time. Now once again the house is filled, in part by pre-war Phi Kaps, and in part by men new to college life; once again the light of social, scholastic and campus activities burns brightly at No. 1 Fraternity Row.

Chapter officers for this year are: Brooke Moffett, Alpha; Ed Irby, Beta; Frank Riley, Pi; Lewis Hasty, Tau; Joe Mathias, Sigma; Hughes Ware, Upsilon; Sam Laneve, Iota; and Bob Morse and Tom Mathews, Thetas. The Chapter is grateful to its Chapter Visitor, Gordon Andrews and his assistant, Doug Laird, for their able assistance in getting things back in swing.

Although many efforts at first had to be turned toward repairing and refinishing the house and rebuilding membership, the boys have been busy in campus activities. The Frat has been ably represented in the Harlequin Club by Moffett, Hasty, and Hurt. Irby and Hasty, whose efforts and accomplishments in every phase of frat activity seem endless, serve on the Interfraternity Council. Jim Filling is to be commended for his literary accomplishments as co-author of the "low-down" column in the Collegian entitled "Tough Situation." The brain trio of Hasty, Laneve, and Mathias are members of both the Chemistry and Biology Clubs. Mathias, who also has muscles, rated a headline in the News Leader for his outstanding activities at right tackle. He is also secretary of the Senior Class.

And so Phi Kappa Sigma ends its period of readjustment and "back to normalcy" with the situation well in hand, and with bright prospects for the future. The fraternity is looking forward to carrying on in the true Phi Kap tradition in the years ahead.

Omicron Chapter

Established at Richmond College in 1891

The Omicron Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha was organized on the Richmond College Campus in 1891 and with the exception of the war years the growth of the Chapter has been both rapid and purposeful. In February, 1946, the strength of the Chapter was only two men. Since then there has been a quantitative as well as qualitative growth. The return of the veteran has been the backbone of the new strength. Both graduates and undergraduates have returned to the campus and have taken their places.

With a 6-6 playoff tie the PiKA touchball team rounded out a successful season. The athletics of Omicron moved to the hardwood with eyes on the basketball crown. With most of last spring's regulars returning, the indication is that the softball championship will be retained by the "garnet and gold."

This year marks the return to the social calendar of the gala All-State PiKA Ball held at the John Marshall Hotel, and the ball will long be remembered as the "Event of the Year."

The Founder's Day celebration held on March 1 was another festive occasion and was celebrated by a banquet and ball. As one of the highlights of the season the PiKA House Party climaxed the activities of the year.

Stars from the Omicron heavens include Brothers from all walks of college life. Morris Cather, the "A" student, is President of the Philologian Literary Society. Frog Burdette was named to the All-State baseball team. Chico Portela is a member of Beta Beta Beta and a lab instructor in the Biology Department. Harold Farley represents the Seniors in the Student Senate. Dwight Anderson, the campus barber, is a member of the Forensic Council. Dave Daniel is the modest President of the Harlequin Club, Treasurer of Student Government, and a member of the Interfraternity Council. Percy Gates, a campus work horse, whiles his hours away on the dance committee of the Interfraternity Council, as Treasurer of the YMCA Cabinet and in the business office of the Web.

Dave served as President of Omicron Chapter for the first semester with Pat Parlow of Westhampton as the Dream Girl and Percy served as President the second semester with his wife, Julia May, as Dream Girl.

The wearers of the "shield and diamond" have resumed their role of pre-war days and are looking ahead to bigger and greater things.

Virginia Tau Chapter

Established at Richmond College in 1884

Sigma Alpha Epsilon was founded on March 9, 1856, at the University of Alabama. Since then it has grown to become one of the largest fraternities in the country. The Virginia Tau Chapter was established at the University of Richmond in 1884, and was very active until it became inactive during the First World War. However, in 1938 the chapter was reestablished, and since then has been one of the most active chapters on the campus. Although Virginia Tau does not have a house at the present, it is rapidly striving toward that goal behind the able leadership of Jimmy Heslep, our President.

The war years were lean years for Sigma Alpha Epsilon on the University of Richmond Campus. In 1944, the active chapter actually reached the low ebb of eight men, but these eight men kept the traditions of SAE flying. In 1945, a very large pledge class was formed and SAE was again on its feet. This year more than twenty-five veterans returned, and with another large pledge class to work with, SAE is sticking to the top, where she has always been.

All of the fraternities were hit hard during the war, and several are still on the rocks, but Sigma Alpha Epsilon, in holding her head high, is setting a standard toward which other fraternities can work.

Virginia Alpha Chapter

When the Brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon returned to the University of Richmond campus, they found that Virginia Alpha had not been one of the casualties of the war. The Chapter began its forty-fifth year on the campus without a house or room to use as a meeting place. Nevertheless we have continued to carry on in the traditions set by our founders and built up through our years of progress.

For the 1946-47 term the Chapter elected as its President, Thad Crump. He was aided and abetted by Bill Arnette as Vice-President, Jesse Tucker as Secretary, and Ben Triplett as Comptroller. Fletcher Stiers was elected to serve as the Chapter Historian.

Among the outstanding events on the social calendar was the annual Founder's Day Banquet held on November 1. The guest speaker on this occasion was Congressman J. Vaughan Gary, an Alumnus of Virginia Alpha.

Bill Roper acted as the Chapter's Social Chairman and his outings will long be remembered by the Brothers. We will not soon forget the fine parties given by Brother Harry Thompson, especially those during the Openings, or that wonderful weiner roast when a certain Brother forgot the weiners! And then, there were the very memorable outings at Camp Richmond.

In almost every campus activity Brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon are to be found participating, always doing their part. Sig Eps are to be found in positions of honor in campus groups as well as in the ranks, and they can always be called upon to do their part in any undertaking. This is part of the Sig Ep tradition!

We remember that old song about looking for the cloud with the silver lining. The Sig Eps have found that cloud, but that isn't enough. We of Virginia Alpha want to deserve to keep it! There is another song that all Sig Eps know and love—it goes like this:

"Should trouble betide me,
Thou e'er will guide me,
Sigma, dear Sigma Phi Epsilon true."

W. SHAKESPEARE (V, 1)—The Tempest

Theta Chi

Founded at Norwich University in 1856

The Bard undoubtedly was not thinking of the men of Omicron chapter, or even of this century when he wrote those words, but his touch of mastery makes his words applicable to any time or people worthy of them.

Now the past is behind us, and the future of the "brave new world" is before us. All could not share the same way in the work of the past, but all did share one way or another. Some did not come back to finish their dreams. It is for them and for the generations of the future that we must build. Ours is the chance; this is the time.

There is a seriousness in the air that was never felt or known before as each man prepares for the role he is to play. This seriousness extends, as it naturally should, into the fraternity. This year Omicron of Theta Chi instituted its program of aid for the underprivileged. The program, which will expand with the years, was concentrated this year in the Christmas season. It was in the form of a party for underprivileged children and was a huge success with Dean Pinchbeck as Santa Claus and Miss Monsell in the role of story teller. Thus the social aspect of the fraternity has broadened its field of view and meaning.

Believing that fraternity should be well-rounded rather than concentrated in one field, Omicron has men in many of the campus activities. "They also serve who stand and wait" is not the motto of the men of Omicron. John Batte was Senator-at-Large, and as Editor-in-Chief of the Web, was assisted by Myron Yagle, Tom White, Ed Holladay and Joe James. Buddy Rosser played a good game of football and worked on the "Y" cabinet; Sim Taylor was one of the best presidents and "House Managers" the Players ever had, while Tommy White served as Vice-President of the junior class; Jimmy Banks gave a lot of time and work to the Dance Committee; Pat Velenovsky worked on the editorial staff of the Messenger; Glenn Allen took the helm of the "Chemistry Club" and found time to make good grades. Many others gave their time to the fraternity in intramural sports and activities. The individual was subordinate to the group as Omicron of Theta Chi began its second year of peace—looking forward to the future.

Not content with merely the serious side, the men in the "White House on Roselawn" revived the "Bowery Ball." The "Mason-Dixon Jubilee" was held in Washington this year in conjunction with the chapters at Virginia, Hampden-Sydney, and the University of Maryland. This was the "post-war" jubilee that was the topic of conversation whenever two men of Omicron met during the war—and it will be the topic of conversation for years to come.

Omicron Delta Kappa

For conspicuous attainment and service in collegiate activities, Omicron Delta Kappa, National Honorary Leadership Fraternity for men, rewards students of Richmond College twice yearly. In electing its members, O.D.K. seeks men who have attained prominence in one and excellence in two of five fields of endeavor: scholarship, leadership, social and religious affairs, athletics, publications and forensics, dramatics and other cultural activities. Besides these qualifications, there are other points that are considered indispensable for leadership, character, intelligence, fellowship and consecration to democratic ideals. The purpose of O.D.K. is threefold: first, to recognize men who have attained a high standard of efficiency in collegiate activities; second, to bring together the representative men who will help mould the traditions and inspire the ideals of Richmond College, and to bring together members of the faculty and student body on a basis of mutual interest and understanding. For the most part, O.D.K. exerts its influence through the activities of its members. This is significant, for the members of this fraternity are elected on the basis of their leadership on our campus. Each year, the Circle sponsors several campus functions and lends its support to others.

Omicron Delta Kappa was founded at Washington and Lee University in 1914. The Epsilon Circle at Richmond College was established in March, 1921, and together with forty-eight other active chapters in prominent universities throughout the country, has served the ideals upon which O.D.K. was founded.

The Circle at Richmond College consists of four active faculty members, a national officer, and the elected student members. This year the officers were: Jack Null, President; Solon Cousins, Vice-President; and Dr. Fred Caylor, Secretary-Treasurer. The active faculty members were: Dr. Caylor, Coach Pitt, Dean Gray, and Dr. Herman Thomas. Dr. R. C. McDanel served in an advisory capacity, and as a national officer of O.D.K.

When, in solemn ceremony, a blackrobed member of O.D.K. rests the blue and red emblem of the fraternity on the shoulder of a Richmond College student in a Chapel Service, our student body is cognizant of the fact that Leadership has been duly awarded.

Mortar Board

The junior class, dressed in white, quietly walked into the chapel and seated themselves. This was a solemn occasion, but underneath, excitement ran high. Six of their number were about to be tapped into Mortar Board, the national honorary society for senior women. Each girl tapped into the organization is recognized for the three qualities Scholarship, Leadership, and Service, all of which denote an active interest and participation in the responsibilities of citizenship, the same qualities which are found in the world citizen.

The Westhampton chapter of Mortar Board began its year's activities with a pajama party for the freshmen during Orientation Week. Then, renewing an old tradition, the members sponsored a Hallowe'en co-ed in the gym, decorating with orange balloons wearing mortar boards. According to custom, on Thanksgiving morning, following the alumnae-varsity hockey game, the chapter served coffee to the alumnae and visitors.

As its contribution to scholarship, Mortar Board sponsored lectures on marriage and family relations in February and a vocational institute in March. Members gave a "Smarty Party" for those elected to Phi Beta Kappa or making intermediate honors, and in the spring the annual School for Officers of organizations was held.

At the end of the year, the class whose achievements throughout the year had been the greatest was presented with the Mortar Board cup, symbol of the qualities for which the society stands, Scholarship, Leadership, and Service.

Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary forensic fraternity on the University of Richmond campus, strives not only to recognize high attainment in the forms of forensic activity, but to stimulate participation in these activities. T.K.A. has made as one of its goals this year the consolidation of the Richmond College and Westhampton College chapters into a University of Richmond chapter. This has been furthered by the combining of the debate teams of these two colleges into a university organization.

The Richmond College Chapter has been greatly aided by the return of Mr. Jack R. Noffsinger, who was chosen as faculty adviser to T.K.A. and who has contributed to its activities in large measure. He taught a class in parliamentary procedure early in the fall for the benefit of the officers and members of the literary societies. The president of T.K.A. was invited to sit with the Forensic Council this year to help plan and coordinate the events of the literary societies and the debate team. T.K.A. considers the past year an excellent one for forensics, but it has worked with the aim of helping forensic activities of future years become still better. Officers for the year 1946-47 were Roy Wyatt, Jr., president, and Stanley Cohen, secretary-treasurer.

Pi Delta Epsilon

Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalism fraternity, was founded at Syracuse University in 1909 with the express purpose of recognizing both men and women who had made outstanding achievements in the field of collegiate journalism.

The aim of the honorary fraternity is threefold: to elevate the cause of journalism, to foster the mutual welfare of student publications, and to encourage loyalty to the respective Alma Maters.

Students, to qualify for membership, must have served on the staff of one or more campus publications for at least two years, and must have attained a responsible position on the staff of at least one of those publications. He must seek to improve campus publications through a sincere and unselfish interest.

Pi Delta Epsilon on the campus this year has grown steadily with the return of many of its former members from the armed forces and has welcomed to its ranks new members from the staffs of the Collegian, the Web and the Messenger. Publication staff members look with pride on the great step forward made throughout the year. Student journalists have given untiringly of their time and effort in meeting the needs of the largest student body in the history of the university. Publications had to grow to meet those needs, and it is of that growth that Pi Delta Epsilon is proud.

These men and women have proved themselves worthy as leaders in campus publications, and in recognizing them, P.D.E. has given them the mark of the highest journalistic accomplishment.

Queen Of The May

MARION KENNEDY HUSKE

Arlington, Virginia

May Day

The first Saturday in May, traditionally May Day, means spring weather, sunshine, flowers, gay booths on the green, and a fairy-tale atmosphere. In the afternoon, Marion Huske, attended by LaVinia Watson, maid of honor, and six lovely seniors, was crowned Queen of the May in a ceremony in the Greek Theater. Then she was entertained by the sophomores, who, directed by Helen Conant, danced the May Pole dance. Afterwards supper was served out on the terrace behind Keller Hall.

" 'Neath Westhampton pines we're singing. . . ." At twilight the freshmen, wearing white and carrying lanterns, wended their way up the hill to the Greek Theater, where they formed a "W" and sang. Then, going into the court, they serenaded the Queen beneath her window.

The Queen was entertained royally that evening with the presentation of the dance-drama adapted from the fairy-tale "The Twelve Dancing Princesses." Thereafter the Queen and her court danced the night away at a ball given by the sophomores in their honor.

Home-coming 1946

Eight hundred alumni are willing to affirm that the 1946 Home-coming on November 2 was the best occasion of its kind in Spider history. The centerpiece was a 19 to 7 football victory over the University of Virginia's Wahoos.

The show was prepared by a committee headed by J. Earle (Pete) Dunford, '15, with a big assist from Richmond College students who went all out in showing the ol' grads a good time. Decorations were unusually attractive and featured a giant Spider web, held aloft by gas-inflated balloons.

Alton Williams, versatile ace of all trades who teaches drama for a living but presides over barbecues for the fun of it, teamed with R. M. Stone, '30, in preparing the barbecue luncheon. Guests of honor at the barbecue were the girls of the Mary Washington College band.

Top row, left to right: The Spider Bees tried hard but the junior varsity from the University of Virginia was too strong and triumphed 13 to 7. Chefs Robert M. Stone, '30, and Professor Alton Williams barbecue spareribs for the hungry multitude. Home-coming Queen Janie Copenhaver (center) and her maids-of-honor Irene Barbour (left) and Jacqueline Pitt were among the interested spectators at the junior varsity football game on Millhiser Field. Middle row: Alumni mill around the registration tables in front of Millhiser Gymnasium preparatory to participating in the day's activities. Excellent judges of pulchritude as well as of the law, Judge E. W. Hudgins, '05, and Judge Burnett Miller, '31, get chummy with Home-coming Queen Copenhaver. Miss Copenhaver goes to work on barbecued spareribs. She is seated between Senator A. Willis Robertson, '07, and Chancellor F. W. Boatwright. Bottom row: "Neighbor" Raymond B. Pinchbeck, an honorary member of the Alumni Society, signs on the dotted line. President Modlin chats with two of the University's most distinguished alumni, Senator Robertson (center) and Representative J. Vaughan Gary, '12. The statisticians are still adding up the number of pigs which died to provide the barbecued spareribs which the alumni polished off.

Now You Are An Ol' Grad

You'll be surprised how often you turn the pages of this Annual during the years which lie ahead . . . how often your thoughts will return to this campus, the shimmer of moonbeams on the lake . . . of snow-coated pines . . . of dogwood in the spring.

These memories you will carry through the years and treasure as you treasure the intellectual and spiritual riches which are yours because of your association with this University.

Alma Mater wishes you Godspeed, and a joyful and fruitful life.

COLGATE-ROCHESTER DIVINITY SCHOOL

Colgate-Rochester Divinity School is located in a city of conspicuous cultural interests, and is housed in one of the most beautiful physical plants in America. A distinguished faculty of outstanding scholars and a restricted student body make possible the type of professional training needed by the present day Christian minister. Keenly alert to the realities of the present hour and unrestricted to the tireless quest for new ways of relating the eternal truths of the Christian religion to the world's immediate needs, it offers its facilities to those who share its interests.
